Angela has over 26 years' experience representing oil, gas, and mining clients in virtually all types of acquisition, divestiture, exploration, production, and financing transactions. Angela has extensive experience with title examination of private, Federal, State and Indian lands throughout the Rocky Mountain region and rendering title, drilling, division order, acquisition, and financing opinions. She counsels clients and prepares a variety of upstream and mid-stream agreements including farmout, exploration, joint operating, participation, pooling and unitization agreements. In addition, she advises clients and prepares agreements for complex acquisition and divestiture transactions. She has extensive knowledge of federal exploratory units and issues associated therewith. She assists clients' land and division order departments with all aspects of curative work, day-to-day operations, and leasing and conveyancing issues. Angela is admitted to practice in Wyoming and Utah.
